

Tickets for '51 Tom Tom Revue go on sale Monday

Monday will mark the first day for obtaining tickets to the fifth annual Tom Tom Revue, which will be held Jan. 11-12.

All tickets will be general admission, according to Louise Anderson, revue business manager. Students may obtain tickets with their activity cards, while non-students and parents may get tickets for 76 cents.

The show, directed by Berkley Forsythe and Vern Stearns, promises some new ideas in the story as well as the staging and music. The plot centers around the two directors and their efforts in assembling a Tom Tom Revue.

Talent Search

In attempting to show "How to Write a Show," they search the university for talent during the first act. Act II carries them to Talencia, the land of talent, where they have traveled to get enough talent to give the show the next day.

After many harrowing adventures with dragons and dancers the directors are finally taken under the wing of the king, who offers them free passage if they will give him a part of the revue.

The stage for Act I is divided into two parts, the ultra-modern Tom Tom Revue office on one side and a changeable set on the other. Action in the Revue office involves a wide variety of characters who wander in either by mistake or by design.

Features Originality

The musical score features original songs with words by Rorsythe and music by Rollie Klopfeisch, revue music director. Included in the compositions is "The Tom Tom Revue Song." The orchestra is directed by Klopfeisch and Dick Carlson, with choral arrangements by Klopfeisch.

The orchestra will feature 16 pieces, with the chorus composed of 16 voices.

Gateway loses three staffers to services

The Christmas holidays proved a little more disastrous than happy for The Gateway staff—and particularly for the Sports Department.

Three of its members are now serving Uncle Sam. News Editor (and former Sports Editor) Mark Gautier left for the Navy, along with the Assistant Sports Editor Bob Henkel. Taking off for the Air Corps was Galen Lillethorup, sports editor.

Former copy desk member Burt McMillan has stepped into the sports togs for the remaining five issues of the semester. Veteran staffer Dick Clark will handle both news editor jobs until the new staff is announced.

Slogan sparks class night at cage game

"What's the good word?"

That question will be answered at OU's first annual basketball game class night Monday at 8 p.m. in the Fieldhouse. The Indian cagers will tangle with Peru.

Every one who attends the game will give his class standing as he enters the Fieldhouse. The class will be credited with one point for every member present.

Outsiders who attend may give their points to the class they want to represent.

During halftime ceremonies, class officers will be introduced. Their costumes during this ceremony have not been revealed. A gift will be presented to the officer of the class with the greatest percentage of class members attending the game.

The Athletic Department hopes to hold many special nights such as the class night if plans are approved by the Athletic Committee. If the plans are approved, Friday, January 12, will be alumni night.

Dress rehearsals are on tap for Tuesday and Wednesday of next week from 8-10 p.m.

All students, parents and friends are invited to attend the show. It was directed last year by John Marshall and Jim Ross.

Registration for next term opens Thursday

Second semester registration will begin next Thursday and continue through Wednesday, Jan. 17. Registration cards may be picked up in the Registrar's Office during that period. Students are urged to make early appointments with their counselors in order to get a wider choice of classes and sections.

Final exams will be held Jan. 20 through Jan. 26. Students will have a brief vacation before second semester classes begin on Wednesday, Jan. 31.

Noon rally precedes Peru basketball tilt

"Start the New Year out right by backing your team," is the slogan for OU's third pep rally of the basketball season.

The pre-Peru game pep rally will be held Monday from 12:30 to 1 in the auditorium. Both the band and the cheerleaders will be on hand to boost the team and coaching staff.

OU has four wins and one loss up to date, with an encounter with Simpson College, Indianola, Ia., coming up tomorrow night. Everyone is urged to attend the Monday noon pep rally to bolster spirit for the tiff with Peru.

Sponsor for the pep rally is the Inter-Pep Council. The council is making plans for two more rallies for the remainder of the season.

Dr. Payne gets civil defense post at OU

OU took steps late Wednesday to keep pace with the nation's growing civil defense program.

President Milo Bail appointed seven faculty members and one student to a committee for the University of Omaha Civil Defense Plant Protection Program. Dr. Wilfred Payne, head of the Humanities Division, will serve as chairman. Jack Adwers, superintendent of building and grounds, is the associate chairman.

Other members are Gordon Best, Student Center manager; James "Tom" Brock, phys ed instructor and coach; Joe Dellere, Business Office representative; Miss Vera Duerchner, women's phys ed instructor; William Durand, engineering instructor, and Ben Tobias, president of the Student Council.

The OU civil defense program is similar to programs being established in major plants and industries throughout the country.

'Faculty cut possible if enrollment drops'

Dr. Milo Bail announced Wednesday that there is a possibility that some instructors at OU may be dropped during the year. The statement was the result of the enrollment drop expected due to military service.

Creighton President the Very Rev. Carl M. Reinert, S.J., said that his school probably would not drop any instructors at least until September.

OU grad takes post in State Department

John C. Hefti, OU grad of 1940, was sworn into the State Department Dec. 26. He will arrange and compose music for the "Voice of America."

Hefti taught music under Martin Bush, head of OU's Music Department, during the scholastic year of 1945-46.

He and his wife live in Long Island City, N. Y.

Enlistees will get university credit

Men who enlist in the armed forces between now and the end of the semester will receive full credit for courses they are taking, President Milo Bail announced Wednesday.

But he emphasized that such credit will be given only if the men present official evidence of enlistment. The credit will be given for grades of A, B and C but not D, he said.

By Wednesday afternoon, the Registrar's Office had formal notification of the enlistment of 41 OU students during the current semester. Most of these enlistments came during the past month. Registrar officials said they expect additional notifications as a result of enlistments during Christmas vacation.

The credit ruling announced by Dr. Bail is an amplification of one

Colonel here

A question and answer period for all 1-A students will be held today in room 350 at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Col. William W. Wurgler of the 355th infantry division of the 5th Army will answer student's questions as to deferment possibilities.

Col. Wurgler spoke at a similar meeting at OU in November.

Senior activity cards, organization copy due

All Greek and organizational page copy for the Tomahawk is due immediately, according to Yearbook Editor Jean McDonald. Each organization is responsible for preparing its own copy and turning it in to the Tomahawk office, room 306.

Senior activity cards should also be filled out and returned at once, she announced.

So far, according to Miss McDonald, all layouts are complete and progress on the book is ahead of schedule.

Hampton will replace Gautier in veep post for Student Council

Ray Hampton was elected vice president of the Student Council Wednesday afternoon at the council's weekly meeting.

Hampton, sophomore representative, succeeds Mark Gautier, who is now in the service.

Council members will nominate and appoint a junior class member next week to fill Gautier's vacant position. He will hold this position until the next official school election.

Arrangements were discussed for the annual Tea Dance, scheduled for Feb. 23. June Williams is chairman of the committee. Assisting her will be Jean Duncan, Joan Godsey and Syntha Judd.

Future plans for Homecoming and Dads' Day were also discussed by the Council.

used by the university during World War II and put into effect again this fall. It gave credit to drafted students and to reservists called to active duty, but not to volunteers. The present ruling extends credit on a percentage basis, depending on how many weeks a student attends classes before leaving.

Most of the enlistments recorded in the Registrar's Office have been for the navy. Men have been signing up in order to get their choice of service. This choice is not allowed after an induction notice is received.

Three weeks ago Dr. Bail sent a recommendation to Washington proposing that since college men are now being deferred till June, their induction notices be held off until then, too. This plan, he pointed out, would make the present flurry of enlistments unnecessary.

Dr. Bail intended his proposal plan to be used only until a definite manpower policy is worked out. The 82nd Congress is expected to enact such legislation in the very near future.

Folders arrive offering students many chances for summer travel

Literature and travel folders for summer student travel have begun to pour into The Gateway office. American students will have opportunities for study and travel in Great Britain and many European countries this year.

American Youth Hostel officials are offering an all-expense scholarship trip to Europe this summer to the person writing the best essay on "Why I Would Like to Go Hosteling in Europe."

The winner of this national contest will have his choice of an eight-weeks' hosteling trip to the British Isles, Central Europe or France and the Rhineland.

The competition is open to all U.S. citizens at least 17 years of age. The 1,000-word essays must be post-marked not later than April 15, 1951.

Full information and application forms for the scholarship may be obtained from American Youth Hostels National Headquarters, 6 East 39th St., New York 16, N. Y.

Academic Travel Abroad, Inc., is offering four study tours to Britain and Europe. These tours, under the direction of American college professors, run about six weeks and cost $900 per person. In addition, budget tours and teachers' tours are being scheduled to such countries as England, Scotland, Ireland, France, Italy, Germany and Belgium.

The association makes complete arrangements for passage, hotel accommodations abroad, sightseeing and educational and recreational programs. Tours leave New York about the middle of June and return in September.

Additional information can be obtained by writing to the Association for Academic Travel Abroad, Inc., 42 Broadway, New York 4, N. Y.

For those who wish to go abroad mainly for academic study, 250 American students will be admitted to the summer school sessions at the University of Oslo, Norway, from June 23 to Aug. 4, 1951.

Courses at the university will be conducted in English. Main emphasis this year will be courses pertaining to Norwegian culture and the social, economic and political situation in the Scandinavian countries.

Six semester credits may be earned during the six-weeks' course. A limited number of scholarships will be awarded. Tuition for the summer term is $80; student fees, $30. Round trip by ship is $360.

Application blanks may be obtained from the Oslo Summer School Admissions Office, St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn.

Garlough combines composition with biology

The music program for last year's Christmas convocation was a little more special than those that preceded it. For along with the traditional music of every yuletide was included a new song—by one of OU's professors.

And through this song Dr. Leslie N. Garlough, head of the General Science Department, proved that he is a composer as well as a scientist.

Composed and orchestrated by Dr. Garlough, "The Legend of the Christmas Rose" was sung by the University Chorus. Richard E. Duncan directed the group from the original score.

Garlough turned to his true profession, biology, to describe the subject of his song. "The Christmas Rose actually is a flower," he said. "It's a white flower with a yellow and pink center, which blooms in February."

"I've written quite a few other pieces," mused Garlough. "But this is the first one I've ever produced." The university professor has been taking music courses here for five years.

Garlough has also managed to sandwich in French, German, Spanish and Swedish—and is now studying Latin on his own. Besides these subjects he has taken social sciences, organic chemistry, fencing, choir, theoretical psychology and three years of art composition.

He explained his reason for spreading his knowledge over so many fields by saying, "In my classes I like to bring subjects together to show similarities and interrelationships between the various fields."

Reflecting on this, Garlough commented that happiness is the ultimate result of his life's work, but it is only a result. "My main purpose in life is to get a job done that's important enough to do."

Dr. Garlough's students are aware that he believes in mixing a little art, philosophy, religion and other subjects into his science lectures. This is because one of his pleasures in life is "to teach young people to think straight about the world and themselves."

Registration hit as cagers lost four

Headaches were in store for students and faculty alike. Registration time rolled around and The Gateway, trying to lessen the usual confusion, carried complete instructions for bewildered participants.

One of Omaha U's most revered professors died during the holidays. He was Harry F. Fore, 71, since 1937 a professor of English and creative writing at the university.

A. Dale Agee was appointed the first full-time alumni executive secretary.

The question of campus card playing faced the Student Council. A coffee hour was to be held in the faculty clubroom and students were asked to bring ideas to the discussion, "Card Playing on the Campus—Yes or No?"

Miss Enid Wolcott resigned from her post as head of the Women's Physical Education Department.

OU's traveling cagers met defeat at all stops during their holiday road trip. Sioux Falls of South Dakota led off with a 56-48 drubbing of the Indians. Other losses came from Nebraska Wesleyan, Morningside and Grinnell.

Two years ago—

OU's long awaited fight song contest seemed almost at an end as judges selected the top five songs for final consideration.

The next item is explainable by its headline: "Cafeteria ups many food prices; meals still under

Has anybody here seen 'Ditmer'?

The following information, scrawled almost illegibly on a piece of wrapping paper, was dropped on the editor's desk by a person or persons unknown. In the future, drop all similar information on someone else's desk. Ditmer, bah humbug.

—The Ed.

It's not that I'm crazy, mister editor. It's just that I've been seeing something which my friends tell me isn't there. The thing is a midget Harvey, sort of.

You see, he's not like the Harvey in the movies. In fact, my Harvey, whose real name is Ditmer, claims the film Harvey is, and I quote, "a fraud, a quack, a myth, a bum, a rotter" and many other names which I can't mention here. Ditmer claims he is and I guess he ought to know.

Sometimes I think he's an over-enlarged biological specimen or cell or something because that's where I first met him—in biology lab. The only thing is that every time I blame him on Doctor Garlough, the good doctor tells me to "get out of here with that" and then he pounds his fist on the wall.

I've been to the nurse and she can't help me. I even went to the Doctors Thompson. Each forcibly ejected me, and one of the doctors threw a piece of chalk at me.

Please don't say I feel bad because of New Year's. I'm a strict teetotaler. Very strict. And I never have had dreams, either. I once thought that Ditmer was just an imaginary figure caused by my drinking too much coffee in the Snack Shack. But that's impossible, I reckoned after weighing the matter carefully. I never drink coffee. I'm a very strict teetotaler.

Let me describe Ditmer to you. He's less than a foot tall when he sits, which he does all the time. In fact, he walks around in a sitting position. His head is pointed (it used to be flat but he fell asleep lying on a pencil one day and someone sharpened the pencil and Ditmer too).

Believe me, he's quite a guy. The next time I see him I'll be sure and bring him in for an interview. I'm sure you'd like to become acquainted with Ditmer.

Bubblegum will do it

"Gobbledy fopsey mufleslop?"

Perhaps you don't understand what that gobbledegook means. Well, you've heard about the guy who "split his sides laughing" and the man who "died laughing?" To get the translation, let us tell you about Norman Paasch, OU's counterpart to those two famous phrases.

It seems that on New Year's Eve he wished to let off steam in a safe, sane and sober manner with, above all, no chance of injury to anyone, particularly to himself.

He went to the Paramount theatre, intent on watching Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis cavort across the screen.

Norm's not a man to laugh at anybody's old witticisms, but those two comics really hit him in the central funnybone, and laugh he did. In fact, he laughed so hard he dislocated his jaw in umpteen places and pulled a few tendons, the result being he is now on a strict diet of liquids and soft foods.

Let it be said that the surgeon who patched up Norm both "split his sides" and "almost died laughing," and the senseless gobbledegook mumbled by Paasch means: "What's so darn funny?"

Umfishdyhick sloc foble. (Why nothing, Norm.)

Since this is the first issue of The Gateway to come out since the holleringdays started, news is mighty scarce in these parts. And that goes for the contents of this collyum, too.

Maulfrey Stewart gets my thanks for this contribution. She says she received a for mletter from the placement office asking her not to enlist but wait for her draft number to come up.

I think she's going to take their advice.

Oh boy! A joke! "Talk about vicious circles. In Puerto Rico they raise cane and drink rum; then they drink rum and raise cane."—Conn Campus.

I ran across this sports story in Omaha's other great paper, and I think it deserves some sort of mention in case you don't read beyond "Little Orphan Annie."

Dateline Walla Walla, Wash. (AP), the story concerned the annual Stone Bowl football game played at the Washington penitentiary on New Year's Day. Seems the Washington State Prison All-Stars powered their way to a 20-7 win over the Prison Intramural League champs, the Eagles. The game was played within the rock walls, where time was the only thing running out.

Not only was this a typical bowl game, but it also had its share of bookies, they being "cigaret bookies." They took bets on the favored Eagles and are probably scanning the prison yard for butts at this time.

The All-Stars' fleet halfback, who scored the first touchdown on a 15 yard breakaway sprint, said afterwards that it was just a sample of what he could do if given a head start outside the prison gates (upon hearing that, I suppose the warden penalized him with a few days in solitary).

The story ended with, "Prison scribes were on hand to write up the game. Their favorite writing style? Short sentences."

The writeup reminded me of last year's Stone Bowl clash. That account, or rather, pre-game account, left me weak from laughter.

As I recall, last year one of the teams was given the opportunity to practice on a field just outside those steely gates. One trick play sent a speedy halfback around end during the session and the speedster made straight for the goal line. He clobbered that in good fashion but his legs kept moving and he passed on into the imaginary end zone, ran through that and when last seen, he was still running.

I never did learn whether the football was returned and I doubt whether the carrier ever was.

Anyway, that's why I believe the warden frowns on such speedy "stud'e'n't's."

Believe it or not, OU has its share of draft dodgers—in this case fellas dodging the draft by enlisting. I wonder which is best, four years in one or two years in the other.

"Hey," cried Satan to the new arrival, "you act as if you owned the place."

"I do," came the reply. "My wife gave it to me before I died."—Merrimac Warrior.

OU uses glass backboards in Simpson, Peru contests

Iowa team boasts deadly center man

With new all-glass backboards and an electric scoreboard greeting them, the OU basketballers will match shots with the Simpson Redmen tomorrow evening. The new equipment was installed over vacation.

Simpson Coach Casey will bring with him a team which boasts an Iowa all-conference center, who scored 342 points last year. He is Charles Kerr, and with another half year of experience, you can expect him to be even more dangerous. In addition to being a scorer, Kerr is a good play-maker.

Last year the Redmen split with the Indians, while winning 13 out of 26 games for the season.

Over the vacation the Indians practiced six times, spending most of the time scrimmaging. They are still relying on the man-to-man defense. The only time the team has switched from that defense was in practice before the Washburn game. During the game, however, they went back to the man-to-man.

The Indians should be ready for this one, after laying off for two weeks, and winning a comparatively easy contest with Sioux Falls College in the South Dakota town Tuesday night.

Probable OU starters:

F—Bob Rose ..... 6-1
F—Ralph Pettit ..... 6-2
C—Bob Stedman ..... 6-4
G—Joe Arenas ..... 5-11
G—Don Fitch ..... 5-8

Simpson line-up:

Betty Scheneman sweeps to top in school badminton tournament

Undisputed singles champion of the OU women's badminton tournament is little Betty Scheneman.

Miss Scheneman earned the "undisputed" tag because no opponent was able to score more than six points against her in a single game all through the tournament.

In addition to walking off with the honors in singles, Betty shared the doubles title with her partner, Gwen Arner.

The doubles victory didn't come so easily for the champions. It took alert and clever play in two games to overcome the challenge of the runnersup, Marilyn Rogers and Mel Meyers.

Miss Rogers also gained a share of the singles honors by taking

Indians will try veteran Dakota matmen tonight

Omaha University wrestling fans will get a look at the South Dakota State team tonight. They will clash with the Indians in the Fieldhouse, with the first match starting at 8 p.m.

It will be the first contest of the season for the South Dakota State grapplers.

There will be six lettermen on the South Dakota roster. They all wrestled on last year's squad, which the Indians defeated, 23-8.

Heading their lettermen is 177 pound Homer Englund. Englund was last year's Northwest AAU champ. He will continue his rivalry with OU's Charlie Mancuso. Mancuso defeated him in last season's match.

Also outstanding for the State team is Walt Christman.

Indian coach Allie Morrison said, "I expect a very close meet. In last year's win, each match was very close," he added.

Morrison will have only three lettermen on the mats tonight. They are Howard Byram and Frank and Charlie Mancuso. Only the Mancuso brothers saw action against South Dakota State last year.

Bob Grau will see his first varsity action. Bob, a 137 pounder, was an All-state wrestler in his high school days at North High. Grau won his laurels in the 145 pound weight class, however.

A new convenience has been added for the Omaha U sports fans. A new electric clock has been installed on the east wall of the Fieldhouse. It will be used for the first time in tonight's matches.

In their last start, the OU wrestlers were drubbed by Iowa University, 23-3. Frank Mancuso was the only Indian matman to triumph in his match.

The Indian line-up:

123—Ronnie Pullen
130—Tom Lara
137—Bob Grau
147—Frank Mancuso
157—Paul Bashus or Jim Kais
167—Bob Kriss
177—Charles Mancuso
Heavyweight—Howard Byram

South Dakota State:

123—Lavern Andersh
130—Howard Hill
137—Walt Christman
147—Richard Willson
157—Darwin Wendland

Bobcats will offer dangerous offense

OU's cagers will face what probably is the toughest small college basketball team in Nebraska Monday evening in the Fieldhouse.

The Peru Bobcats have, the last two seasons, displayed the ferocity of the animal in their nickname. Much of the credit goes to the forwards, Omer Meeker, and Don Bornschlegl, who carry the offense on their shoulders.

Though both score with ease, Meeker seems to be the better. He has averaged 19 points a game for the Bobcats. This is Meeker's fourth year in the conference sport. The previous three years he has been on the all-conference team.

So far this season Peru has won six and lost three, while placing second in several tournaments. Nevertheless, the Bobcats are much better than the six won, three lost record indicates.

Comparing the two teams, Peru has a slight height advantage. The spirit may make a difference, as the Bobcats will be howling for revenge. Last year they also had a "firehouse" club, and OU handed them a three point loss. The Indians are again the underdogs, and can wish only for an upset win.

The Papooses will play Dana "B" Saturday night for their first game since defeating Commercial Extension. Monday, the "B" team will meet the Peru reserves.

The second team will be without two men who have seen plenty of action so far. Bob Chambers and Gene Hines are now in the service.

Game times are 6:15 for the reserves and 8:15 for the varsity.

Probable OU line-up:

F—Bob Rose ..... 6-1
F—Ralph Pettit ..... 6-2
C—Bob Stedman ..... 6-4
G—Joe Arenas ..... 5-11
G—Don Fitch ..... 5-8

Peru starting line-up:

F—Omer Meeker ..... 6-2
F—Don Bornschlegl ..... 6-1
C—Bob Eilers ..... 6-5
G—Bill Johnson ..... 6-0
G—Chuck Smith ..... 5-10

OU seniors practice in real estate selling

Six OU students are getting experience in their field of real estate while finishing their academic work. Placing students in Omaha real estate firms is part of the university's plan for senior real estate majors.

Sioux keglers gain tie with Alpha Sig squad

Alpha Sigma Lambda stayed in the lead in the 'mural bowling league, Dec. 14 at 40 Bowl.

Alpha Sigs won two out of three from ISA to share the league lead with Sioux. The latter swept three from hapless Sigma Lambda Beta to jump into the tie.

Theta Phi Delta took the measure of Theta Chi, two out of three games. Phi Epsilon Pi won two out of three from Pawnees.

Jerry Leffler, Alpha Sigs, grabbed individual honors with a high game mark at 194 and 515 for high individuals series. Dana Tucker and Galen Lillethorup, both Alpha Sigs, ran second and third in individual high series. Arthur Bodette, ISA, bowled a 189 game. Alpha Sigs grabbed both high

OU cagers equal '50 output with easy win

Omaha University's basketball crew equalled last year's win record by trouncing Sioux Falls College 53-34, Tuesday night at Sioux Falls.

It was the Indians' fourth win in five outings with the only black mark being the 56-45 loss to Washburn, Dec. 16.

Gee leads Otoes to cage victory

Otoes squeezed by the Pawnees 23-20, in an intramural basketball game Dec. 14, in the Fieldhouse. It was the last game played before the holiday vacation.

Merrill Gee captured scoring honors for the victors with 10 points. Newell Breyfogle dumped in seven markers for the losers.

Ernie Gorr, 'mural director, is asking each team manager to notify him by Monday if his organization will field a team in the "B" basketball league.

Next week's schedule:

9 Alpha Sigma Lambda "B" vs. ISA "B"
10 APO vs. Blackhawks.
11 ISA vs. Theta Chi
12 Theta Chi "B" vs. Theta Phi Delta "B"
Otoes vs. Sigma Lambda Beta Pawnees vs. Phi psilon Pi.

Deadline for entries in the table tennis and badminton tournies have been set for Jan. 11. Tournament play will start Jan. 15. Gorr hopes to have the tournaments completed before semester examinations begin.

Registration may be made on the intramural bulletin board above the trophy case in the athletic offices or on the bulletin board in the locker room.

Those who have signed to participate in the tournaments are asked to look on the bulletin boards to make sure that they are registered.

If anyone has signed to participate in the tournaments and does not wish to play, he is asked to remove his name from the bulletin board immediately.

Instruction for war contract jobs begins

Two courses in job instruction for employees of firms having war contracts are being offered by the University of Omaha. Classes began Jan. 2. The courses, designed for improving production possibilities, are open to all who want to learn supervisory work.

The first quarter started slowly but the spark finally caught and Omaha rushed to a 15-4 margin.

Coach Pflasterer swept the bench as the Indians kept pouring it on in the second period to lead 36-17 at intermission.

As quickly as it started, the fire died out in the Omaha attack. The Indians could manage only seven points in the third and the Braves sliced the bluge to 13 points.

However, the Indians rapidly doused the fire and put the game on ice in the final period.

Rebound strength played an important part in the win with the Indians using their superior height in controlling both boards.

Coldness on the part of Sioux Falls was no doubt the reason for the size of the deficit. The Braves were unable to hit on many shots within the free throw region.

The Braves hit only 12 for 66 shots from the field while Omaha hit a plus 48% on their field goal attempts, with 21 for 44.

Bob Rose and Don Fisher pepped the Omaha five with eleven and ten points, respectively. The main cog in the Sioux Falls machine was Don Palmer who meshed eleven points.

It was sweet revenge for the Indians who lost both games to the Braves last year by close scores.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

Number 10...THE PANDA

"Let's get down to bear facts!"

The sudden rash of quick-trick cigarette tests may have caused panda-monium on the campus — but our scholarly friend was unperturbed. He pondered the facts of the case and decided that one-puff or one-sniff tests . . . single inhale and exhale comparisons are hardly conclusive. Proof of cigarette mildness doesn't come that fast!

And that's exactly why we suggest . . .

The sensible test — the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke — on a pack after pack, day after day basis. No snap judgments needed. After you've enjoyed Camels —

and only Camels — for 30 days in your "T-Zone"

(T for Throat, T for Taste), we believe you'll know why . . .

More People Smoke Camels than any other cigarette!
